"So, My Child Loves Orchestra, How Do We Keep It Going This Summer?"

Awesome! I'm so glad to hear that! Here are a few ways to encourage and develop that love!

- Music-Themed Birthday Presents (sheet music, a nice music stand, nice rosin or shoulder rest, a fancy case, an instrument stand, music-themed clothing...) are fun ways to celebrate your child's musical life. Email Mrs. Kitchell if you are interested in ideas or stores, and she can point you in the right direction!
- Purchase or print some new music for your student to play! The internet is a great resource here – www.jwpepper.com has a wide selection. If you do a google search, use the "images" tab, and use keywords like easy, beginning, solo, and the name of the instrument. Music does usually cost money – this is an artists' created work, their livelihood, and their career, and they deserve to be compensated.
- Take your child to see a concert! Live music is coming back, slowly but surely! Many places offer very affordable student tickets. Check out the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra (who will be back with Symphony on the Prairie), Carmel Symphony Orchestra, Indianapolis Philharmonic Orchestra, and more!
- Summer String Camps – there are a few orchestra summer camps happening in person this year. Check out the newsletter from May 7th, or the orchestra website, for more information.
- Private Lessons are THE best way to enjoy playing and improve! Nothing can replace one-on-one teaching, and summer is a great time to start! You can find a private teacher list on the orchestra website, your student can bring one from school, or you can email Mrs. Kitchell.

THANK YOU for all your support this year! Have a wonderful summer!
